BUSINESS ENTERPRISE
PROGRAM FOR MINORITIES,
FEMALES, AND PERSONS WITH DISABILITIES

The Business Enterprise for Minorities, Females, and Persons with Disabilities Act helps state government promote the economic development of businesses certified as owned and controlled by minorities, females, and persons with disabilities.

The Business Enterprise Council
The Act established the Business Enterprise Council to oversee the Business Enterprise Program (BEP). The council comprises 10 individuals representing businesses that are owned by minorities, females, or persons with disabilities;

Program Activities
Day-to-day activities designed to help meet the contracting goal include:

Agency Training
Program staff work with each agency's purchasing group to educate them about the Act and provide them with information about BEP-certified businesses interested in contracting with the state.

Compliance and Monitoring
Program staff help ensure that agencies actively consider BEP certified businesses when issuing bids/proposals or when entering into contracts.

Vendor Outreach
Through formal means, such as the annual matchmaker conference, and informal means, such as working one-on-one with individual vendors, BEP staff are constantly in contact with businesses that may qualify for the program.

Certification
To determine progress towards meeting the contracting goal, we need to distinguish businesses owned and controlled by minorities, females, and persons with disabilities from other vendors. We do so through the certification process.

pleted to ensure access to the state's procurement system. The Bidder's Application Form (BAF) gives information needed to enter a firm into CMS' computerized procurement system.

Certification Reciprocity
The Business Enterprise Program works toward making the certification process less burdensome. To that end we have established certification reciprocity agreements with the following entities:

- Chicago Minority Business Development Council (CMBDC)
- Women's Business Development Center (WBDC)
- Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT)

Through these efforts we hope to greatly increase the number of businesses owned and controlled by minorities, females, and persons with disabilities who participate in the state procurement process and to ultimately increase the number that win state contracts.

Program Eligibility
The program is open to:
